Part One: Reading Comprehension (25 p0oints)

Read the following text then answer the question below:

Your body is like a car. Cars need fuel – and we need food. Your body uses most of yesterday's supply by morning and then it needs more. People who forget this and miss breakfast may suffer headaches, and they will certainly be low on energy. On the other hand, scientists say, people who eat a proper breakfast learn better, behave better and are generally healthier.

Moreover, people who miss breakfast are especially likely to make up for it later with large portions of things that contain lots of unhealthy fat and calories – a burger perhaps or a pie and some fries. Not surprisingly, 17% of American teenagers are now very overweight. Dangerous 'killer' conditions often follow in later life – heart disease, for example.

The answer is to eat a healthy breakfast and a balanced daily diet that gives our bodies the nutrients that they need. And of course to get more exercise.

Too many American teens do not eat when they should. Take Carrie Choi. Carrie is 15 and she has not eaten breakfast since she was in third grade. 'I don't have time,' she says 'I have to be on the school bus at 7:15 am'. Anyway,' she adds, 'I'm really not hungry at that time of day.'

More and more young Americans talk like Carrie. They are the 20% of US teenagers who do not eat breakfast. They are creating real problems for themselves – and perhaps even killing themselves.

The Food Pyramid here shows everything that your body requires. It consists of six food groups and these provide all the 50 basic nutrients that are necessary for good health. It is also properly balanced: we need less of the group at the top, more of the ones in the middle and even more of those at the bottom.

When the Food Pyramid gives a number of portions, this is the daily quantity necessary for health. A portion here means, for example, one egg, 30 grams of meat or a vegetable like spinach or a bowl of rice or yogurt. And , for example, the average person needs three portions of fruit per day.
